American College of Poultry Veterinarians
Mission Statement

• To further educational and scientific progress in the field of poultry veterinary medicine.

• To promote the development of poultry veterinary medicine as a science.

• To improve and strengthen the instruction in poultry veterinary medicine.

• To establish publication, testing and continuing education requirements for the certification of poultry veterinarians to enhance the quality of poultry veterinary medicine and to provide an incentive for research, publication, improvement of residency and other educational programs, and continuing education in the field of poultry veterinary medicine.

• To provide guidance on the quality of and desirable levels of pre- and post-professional training, experience and continuing education for potential and current students and specialists in poultry veterinary medicine.

The American College of Poultry Veterinarians was formed in 1992. It was formed exclusively for charitable, scientific and educational purposes. It is a 501(c) 3 incorporated in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The American College of Poultry Veterinarians is a veterinary specialty organization recognized by the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) according to the policies and procedures of the American Board of Veterinary Specialties (ABVS)

The American College of Poultry Veterinarians has 283 diplomates. Twenty-five have Emeritus status and seven members have Honorary status. Last year we added eight new members. Two members passed away in 2012. Twenty-eight were removed from the college for failure to pay dues and submit CE as required by the college.
