

I am Hayden Miller, and I am a veterinary student at the Mississippi State University College of Veterinary Medicine. I completed my undergraduate studies at the Mississippi State University department of Poultry Science. Having grown up in the poultry industry, I have witnessed firsthand the need for poultry veterinarians that will protect our food supply for generations to come. This made the decision to become a poultry veterinarian very easy. After gaining insight into the profession at the Poultry Research and Diagnostic Laboratory in Pearl, MS, I absolutely fell in love. Since then, I have gained experience in various aspects of the industry, including completing two internships in both primary breeders and processing, that furthered my knowledge of the industry as a whole. My career goal is to become a poultry veterinarian who will be a steward of animal welfare and help feed the world with high-quality protein. I believe that our industry will play a pivotal role in feeding the growing population of the world, and I cannot wait to be a part of the solution to this crisis. It is an honor to be nominated for the Student Board of Directors position, and I would love the opportunity to serve an amazing industry!
