Resume of your experience in avian medicine (recent positions, please give employer name, title, type of work and years spent). Active in poultry medicine and technical service from 1971 to 2012. Director of poultry production and technical service for a Canadian integrator from 1974 to 1996 (diagnostic work, nutrition, management). From 1996 to 2012, vice-president, R&D for Jefo Nutrition Inc. and technical service internationally. I developed alternative products for the replacement of antibiotic growth promoters in poultry (coated organic acids, coated essential oils, enzymes, etc.). Consulting with customers mainly in Latin America, Europe and Asia on poultry health issues and solutions. I have been speaker in numerous conferences on various topics related to poultry production and health worldwide. I retired from Jefo Nutrition Inc. on December 31st 2012.

What are you doing now?

Retired but active in private consulting in poultry production issues.

I am also a course master with the "World Veterinary Education in Production Animal Health" (WVEPAH, www.wvepah.org). This organization, under the umbrella of the OIE and the University of Luxemburg, will give avian medicine courses to graduated veterinarians to make them competent in avian medicine and able to help implement the OIE policies worldwide. The first two week intensive courses will be given in Dakar, Senegal (March 17 to 28, 2014) and in Berlin, Germany (May 2014). The same courses will be given by others poultry veterinarians in Mexico, late spring 2014. Other teams will cover turkey, waterfowl and layers medicine in Canada, Thailand and France, in 2014 and 2015.

How long have you been a member of ACPV? Since 1992.

Other comments:

Because of my extensive traveling during the last 15 years, I have not been able to comply with the CE requirements for 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007, with official and accredited conferences and workshops.

The CE requirements for 2008 to 2013 have been met.
